Developing an Equitable Pay System for Your Company

Presented by
Nancye Combs

Webinar - Tuesday, May 22, 2007
1:00 p.m. – 2:00 p.m. (Eastern)

Education from the Comforts of Your Office!

Simple to access - live training session, with visuals delivered via the Internet, and audio delivered via telephone (participating sites also receive hard copy of visuals).

What You Will Learn

At least 70% of employees say compensation is the most important factor in job satisfaction, according to reliable survey data. Fair and equitable compensation is also a key to retention of talented staff. Yet, most business owners and others responsible for setting pay rates don't have clue how to set up an equitable compensation system. The technical terms are intimidating and information is hard to find. This webinar will take the mystery out of setting up an equitable system. Those who attend this program will learn:

What basic elements are needed in a wage and salary plan
What should be included in a Wage and Salary Policy
How to determine the market price of each job
Where to find accurate salary survey information based on occupation and applicable labor market
How to keep your Wage and Salary Plan up-to-date
